Blakeney Leigh were approached by Albins & Hitchcock, who had a plot of land used as a storage facility. We were tasked with obtaining planning permission to create a new residential unit. After consultation with the local planning authority, Blakeney Leigh obtained permission to create a townhouse style two bedrooms house, including a terrace, cycle storage and renewable energy to power the home.

The client is currently in negotiations with a contractor to complete this project so watch this space for more to follow.
